A Sunscape Product for Every Need

Always remember that different applications are well suited to individual products. Our standard Sunscape Duralite and Sunscape Softlite films are perfect for creating a neutral appearance, where Sunscape Purelite tends to generate a soft light effect. Sunscape Designer Grey is well-suited to panoramic windows where homeowners want to have a clear, crisp view, while homeowners with skylights may be interested in Sunscape Solar Safety film.

Whichever Sunscape Film You Choose to Employ ...

... knowing its features and being able to express them uniquely to customers can be a real boost to your business. Finally, remember that you can always share your great window film projects on our private Facebook Group.

Demonstrate the Value of Madico Sunscape Window Films with a Sunscape Sales Meter Kit

In a perfect world, on a perfect day, you could arrive to consult with a residential or commercial prospect as direct sunlight streams through a window. That would make it easier to demonstrate the effectiveness of Sunscape Window Films, right?

But the problem is you do not work in a perfect world, and the weather can be different every day, every hour, sometimes it changes by the minute depending on where you live.

The Sunscape Sales Meter Kit, which is available to you as a Madico Sunscape dealer, provides you with the tools to demonstrate the effectiveness of Sunscape window films – regardless of current weather conditions. By using the provided heat lamp, digital BTU meter, glass, and Sunscape film samples, you have what you need to demonstrate the effectiveness of our products.

The use of a heat lamp helps you simulate your own sunny day, allowing your prospect to experience what the discomfort of direct sunshine feels like. And through the use of a digital BTU meter, glass, and tint samples, you can demonstrate how quickly Madico Sunscape window films can reduce solar heat, for a more comfortable, energy-efficient home.
